

WIBAUX LONGHORN NEWSLETTER

APRIL, 2024

Guest speaker, Hunter Pinke, visited our students this last week. He spoke to the elementary students about the importance of setting goals in life and going after them. To the junior high and high school students, he spoke about the importance of choosing to have “No Bad Days” and making the choice to stay positive even on the rough days. Thank you to Hunter for the impactful messages that he shared with our students!

3RD QUARTER STUDENT OF THE QUARTER

Thank you to Stockman Bank for Sponsoring this award

High School Nominations

Morgan Nelson is a sweetheart, diligent, and polite individual. She approaches tasks with determination and a positive attitude, always willing to lend a hand with a smile. Her reliability is remarkable; even when absent, she ensures all her work is completed upon her return. Morgan has shown incredible growth this year, stepping out of her comfort zone and overcoming obstacles with resilience.

Samuel Braden recently placed at the Academic Olympics, often exhibits a genuine thirst for knowledge. His respectful demeanor towards peers and educators enriches the classroom environment. Beyond academics, Samuel participates in sports, showcasing his dedication, teamwork, and leadership skills. He also manages his business ventures.

Junior High

Kya Wyman consistently demonstrates an exceptional commitment to her assignments, always willing to go the extra mile to ensure they are completed to the highest standard. Her creative flair shines through in all her work, adding a unique touch to everything she undertakes. Moreover, Kya is reliable and readily offers assistance whenever required. Additionally, her quirky sense of humor injects a delightful energy into the classroom environment.

ATTENDANCE

Attendance in school is crucial for numerous reasons. Consistent attendance ensures that students are present to engage with the curriculum and participate in learning activities, fostering academic progress and achievement. Regular attendance also cultivates a sense of responsibility and discipline, teaching students the value of punctuality and commitment. Being present in class enables students to actively participate in discussions, collaborate with peers, and receive immediate feedback from teachers, all of which are essential components of the learning process. If your students do have to be gone, please remember to call the office or send a note beforehand.
